shaping tomorrow with you

FUJITSU

Productivity. Whichever way you look at it.

Mobile devices are becoming a key priority in the mobilization strategies of many businesses. They deliver measurable benefit in terms of increased efficiency, collaboration, productivity and flexibility – so it’s no surprise that enterprises everywhere are adopting mobile devices, and tablets in particular, as part of their mobile strategy.

Among tablets, the 2 in 1 tablets, answer the need of a modern enterprise by combining the best of both worlds – of tablets and PC’s. This combination is essential in powering the digital working styles of a new breed of go-anywhere, work-anywhere professionals.

As an ultra-light, portable 2 in 1 device with a day-long battery, the FUJITSU Tablet LIFEBOOK P728 is the right tool for multi-mode users who transition seamlessly between tablet and notebook depending on the task in hand.

Business sense, security sense

When people need to be mobile, it makes sense to equip them with tablet devices. The new LIFEBOOK P728 is a 360-degree foldable device that doubles up as notebook and tablet. Apart from reducing TCO, by having just one device for multiple needs, it enables enterprises to speed up workflows and take processes fully digital both inside and outside the office. And in fields where mobile connectivity is vital – such as hospitality and healthcare – the new LIFEBOOK P728 takes productivity and flexibility to the next level. To meet the challenges of security that are an inevitable part of mobile working, it offers industry-leading palm vein authentication technology to protect your enterprise data.

Fujitsu recommends Windows 10 Pro.
