Designed for what's coming next

Productivity at the point of need

More than ever, the point of need for productivity can be anywhere – from coffee shop to construction site, clinic to conference room. With the right mobile technologies, enterprises can reach out to a new talent pool of highly mobile, flexible professionals, and give people greater choice in how and where they work while raising their own business productivity at the same time.

Flexible tablet notebooks have a vital role to play in mobile working styles. With the FUJITSU Tablet LIFEBOOK T938, your clients can combine the flexibility of a tablet with the power of a notebook. Its enterprise-grade security and take-anywhere slim lines enable people to be productive wherever they want and need to be – and not just when their device will allow.

shaping tomorrow with you

The FUJITSU logo is displayed in a white, serif font. The letter 'J' is stylized with a small circle above it, and the 'S' has a similar circle above it. The logo is positioned in the bottom right corner of the advertisement.

Fujitsu recommends Windows 10 Pro.

Designed around people

Fujitsu has designed the LIFEBOOK T938 around the people who'll most likely be using it: the collaborators who move from meeting to desk and conference room all day, for instance, or the on-the-go professionals who need access to business intelligence at any location. The LIFEBOOK T938 is equipped for the challenge, wherever the working day may lead.
